

monster Seminar JAM winter2009

Weekly Seminar Series

at the Northwest Fisheries Science Center Auditorium

Thursday, February 26th - 11:00 AM

Why Ecosystem Management is a Human Dimensions Phenomenon

MICHAEL ORBACH

Nicholas School Marine Science and Conservation
Duke University

MONSTER SEMINAR JAM SCHEDULE

JAN 08 What is the Worst that Global Warming Has Done in the Past?
JAN 15 Learning from POPs: What Anthropogenic Chemicals Might Tell Us about the Puget Sound Ecosystem
JAN 22 Foraging Ecology of Bowhead Whales in West Greenland
JAN 29 Changes in Northwest Climate and Their Significance for Aquatic Organisms
FEB 05 Habitat Use and Bioenergetics of Southern Resident Killer Whales
FEB 12 Sixgill Shark Research at the Seattle Aquarium: A Brief Program Overview, and Preliminary Results
FEB 19 Classmates.com Can't Match the Fishy Friendships of Old School Ties: Implications of Relatedness and Familiarity on Patterns of Social Organization in Fish
FEB 26 Why Ecosystem Management is a Human Dimensions Phenomenon
MAR 05 Ecological and Genetic Mechanisms of Divergence in Threespine Stickleback
MAR 12 Evolution in Ocean Data Collection - Gliders, Floats, and Other Wild Things Roaming the Seas

PETER WARD
JOEL BAKER
KRISTIN LAIDRE
PHIL MOTE
DAWN NOREN
JEFF CHRISTIANSEN
SIÂN GRIFFITHS

MICHAEL ORBACH
KERRY MARCHINKO
FRITZ STAHR